Description

Mjna is a chair that combines the practicality of a functional product with the elegance of materials such as steel and thick leather. The steel frame is visible in the back legs, while the rest of the chair is completely covered in fine thick leather. This design choice gives Mjna a distinctive visual uniformity, a chromatic harmony that communicates with the delicate curves of the frame. Mjna's versatility is also expressed in the fact that it is stackable, an uncommon feature for such a sophisticated chair. Indeed, Lissoni designed the structure so that it can be easily and conveniently stored after use, giving a new option to private clients as well as the commercial contract world.
